Services¹ that provide Diagnostic Assessment of ASD

How was this document created?

- Services were sourced from the current outdated ASD directory, professional networks (health, education and voluntary sector), Information Services Division Scotland (ISD), Scottish Government Child and Adult Departments, eSAY, and a web search.
- Lists from each source were combined with duplicate services identified and removed; this led to a total of 164 distinct services that potentially provided diagnostic assessment of Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD).
- Each service was individually contacted by the Autism ACHIEVE Alliance to determine whether they provide diagnostic assessment of ASD. Of the 164 services, 5% had non operational contact details.
- Initially 94 services identified themselves as providing a diagnostic assessment of ASD; 30 adult services and 64 children's services.
- In phase 2 of our work (2013) two further adult services were identified, these are marked with an asterisk*
- This list contains the contact details for the 96 services that provide a diagnostic assessment of ASD.

Obtaining the Urban Rural Classification:

- The postcodes of each service were used to obtain a classification of their Urban Rural status
- This was based on the Scottish Government 6 fold Urban Rural Classification (2008)
www.scotland.gov.uk/Topics/Statistics/About/Methodology/UrbanRuralClassification

¹ This list is inclusive of services and exclusive of individual practitioners, in line with the Quality Diagnostic Standard (2008).
